American politics. The people understand all this. At no truce in the history of the American nation country so well as they do now. They cannot be deceived. They know that the secessionists, by crying out Lincoln's Government, Lincoln's men, and Lincoln's guns, hope to conceal their villainous schemes to inaugurate his impeachment. Probably most of them consequence. We apprehend that a bloody ration of our glorious old Union, some by re- balance of trade so preponderant in our favor, fore saying or deciding what they will do in think they had better listen to the evidence be- ahock is at hand.

> Roger W. Hanson declared in his late speech in Scott county, that, if an attempt be made hy the Legislature to get rid of the Governor by impeachment, it caunot succeed till after the fall of 10,000 men that is secessionists Now if an attempt at the Governor's im machment be made, it will be made in strict pursuance of the provisions of the Constitution and the laws. SEIZURI OF HOUSES.-We learn from the Richmond (Ky.) Messenger that a party of secessionists of that city undertook, last week, to car-Paso, July 29:

Our troops fought soft Federals on Thursday, of Cumberland Gap, part of the drove belonging to a Mr. Nelson, of Ibat State. Arriving at Collier's, this side of Barbourville, the passage of horsemen in the night led them to epprehend trouble, when they turned their course to Wheeler's Gap. Stepping for the night near Williemaburg, in Whitley county, a party composed chiefly of Tennesseans who had been driven from that State for loyalty to the Union, arrested them and seized their horses. We understand that the danger of such an enterprise was well known to danger of such an enterprise was well known to the young gentlemen before they left here, and Movements of the Robels about Washington.

Washington, August 22.
The cause of the retrograde movement by the eliels to a point one mile beyond Fairfax is still matter of conjecture. Some thick them ap-schemive of being linked by troops landed from our fleet on the Potomac; others that Bull Run our fleet on the l'otomac; others that Bull Runis so ewollen by raios as to lead to the fear that they might ha cut off from their supplies. It is proved by efficers of intelligence that there is no emsiderable force near the river stove or below. The report that a lody had crossed at Harper's Ferry is false. Mr. Russell, of the London Times, reports no soldiers at the Ferry last night at tha other side. The fords below them are well guarded, and even when the river falls so low as to make it pessible to cross above Leeshirg it would be useless, because of the steepness of the bark. Deserters' stories about the rebel force being 150,000 are discredited.

which throw light on the matter:

The brigandage extends a little everywhere, but principally in the Calabrias, the Abruzzi, and in Capitaesta. The band which had its hiding place in the royal forests of Persanc, near Parestrua, after having plundared the King's hunting lotge there, had been driven out and scattered, but rome few handfuls succeeded in making their escape into the Celabrias. The same happened to a band in Cotrone, in the province of Cosenza. Numbering some six hundred meu, it overran some small villages, establishing what its leaders called provisional governments, plundaring and mordering at its pleasure. BELLAD AND THE NEW CILER -Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the "Atlantic" for September, says no negal so many admirable things that quotation is vexed at itself-but of the luonmerable many these two must be a sample:

Men cannot think, ir write, or attend to their ordinary business. They etroll up and down the streets, they saintir out upon the public places. ENGLAND AND THE UNITED SINTES. — We need hardly point out to our intelligent readers that the chance of a wer breaking out between Great Britain and the I nited States is of the most distant kind. The dispatch of troops to Canada effords no proof that Lord Palmerston expects a collision with the Republic. Whenever there is the most remote possibility of danger approaching, then it is the policy of the English authorities to send troops. Their very presence is a security against danger. The troops must lie somewhere, the ermy i maintained in full force and efficiency, and a few regiments may as well be stationed in the Canadas are elsewhere. We are by no means sure that the nufferry authorities College. Main al. well be stationed in the Canadas as elsewhere.
We are by no means sure that the noticities in England knew enough to be awars that the collision in the United States would necessarily take place far from our frontier. A foolub story was started that the St. I awrence Canal locks were in danger, and troops are now uctuelly amplyed in watching them. In all probability the War Office imagines deff. Davis to be in full tarce and across the border. It is en ill wind that blows nobedy good.

The London papers grumble at the expense of sending the troops here, and say the Canadians should defend themselvas. They are ulterly unroasonable. Consider the cause of the present about cotton? Is there any desire on the part of Mr. Cartier to raise the blockade? Not at all. The war, if it come at all, would proceed from Laglish nutrests, and how unreasonable it would be under such circumstances for England to ask as to defend ourselvos. We sre willing to help in a good cause, but it is useless to conceal that in case of a collision with the Stales, the main part of the fighting must be done by the British army, and the munitions of war come from the arsenals of Woolwich at the cost of Britain.

But, as we have said before, the British Government does not enticipate war with the States. But, es we have said neroes, the British they ermind does not enticipate war with the States, nor is it likely to happen. The American people are engliged in a long and ar tuons civil contest, out of which they will come, whatever may be the resume the erts of peace, end fearful of falling into the condition of hatharism which war is apt into the condition of hatherism which war is apture engender. There are some people who talk of the States being ruled at the end of the fight by a military distator and a stending army, who will naturally seek new conquests. These persone generally arge that republics in past eges have been subverted by military power. There is a great difference between any republic which has ever before existed and thet of the United States. The ancient republics were ruled by a single city; when the city fell before the conqueror, the liberties of the republic fell with it. The French Republic west destroyed by the conquest of Paris, which is much in the form of the conquest of Paris, which is much in the form of the conquest of Paris, which is much in the form of the congruence of the congru Absurd, but there are many people who consider it a reality, he will have to cross e good many liubicons before he would be able to make things Rubicons bef re ha would be able to make things pleasant. If he took Washington, he would have a magnificent capitel and no more. If he took New York, he would have money, but nu nure influence over the mass of the population than his Orderly Sergeant. It is the rural population, the reading population, who rule the United States, and no military dutator could conquer. If he could, he would not be able to control them for e day. The greatest anding army that ever was raised would not keep down twenty millions of reading men inhabiting down twenty millions of reading men inhabiting a country ibousands of miles in extent. The tunericane do not desire to essail Lugland, and the linglish do not want to assail America. There is no real cau a clipharrel now, and none is likely to arrie if hoth sides preserve civil tongues, and to not let cotton come between them and their wats. Fur duty in Canala is to avoid irritating Histors with our neighbors, who are very good ustiners in our markets. The task is not diffi-alt if men will forget party and seek the good of he country. Lorento Globe, Jugust 16.
